REFERENCE: DPO/OROLSI/2021/02494

The Secretariat of the United Nations presents its compliments to the Permanent Missions of Member States to the United Nations and has the honour to invite their Governments to nominate non-uniformed civilian justice experts for service with the United Nations Mission in South Sudan (UNMISS) as government-provided personnel.

The Secretariat invites Member States to submit completed official United Nations Personal History Profiles for Non-Uniformed Civilian Government-Provided Personnel in respect of their nominated candidates, and to certify that the nominees meet the requirements as set forth in the attached terms of reference. Candidates who are ultimately selected will be expected to serve for a period of 12 months from the time of their deployment, with the possibility of an extension.

The nomination of women candidates is strongly encouraged. Member States are expected to nominate at least 30 per cent women candidates for service. In line with the 2018 Uniformed Personnel Gender Parity Strategy of the Department of Peace Operations (DPO), equally qualified women will be given priority consideration for selection. Nominations comprised of men only may not be accepted.

The Secretariat requests the Permanent Missions to forward their nominations by e-mail to Ms. Annika Kovar (kovar@un.org) with copy to Ms. Julia Jaeckle (julia.jaeckle@un.org) by 28 July 2021, referring to this Note Verbale. The Secretariat will also accept nominations after this deadline, on a rolling basis. As nominated personnel may also be considered for service with other United Nations peace operations with similar requirements, the Secretariat would be grateful if the nominating government would indicate in the submission whether it agrees to the candidate being considered for service in other United Nations peace operations.

The Secretariat wishes to outline that it is the responsibility of the nominating government to ensure that each candidate it nominates has not been convicted of, or is not currently under investigation or being prosecuted for, any criminal offence, or any violation of international human rights law or international humanitarian law. In the case of nominees who have been investigated for, charged with or prosecuted for any criminal offence but were not convicted, the nominating government is requested to provide information regarding the investigation(s) or prosecution(s) concerned. The nominating government is also requested to certify that it is not aware of any allegations against its nominated candidates that they have been involved, by act or omission, in the commission of any acts that may amount to violations of international human rights law or international humanitarian law.

The Secretariat recalls that the responsibilities of personnel who are engaged to serve in United Nations peace operations are exclusively international in character. Such personnel are to perform their functions under the authority of, and in full compliance with, the instructions of the Secretary-General of the United Nations and persons acting on his behalf and are required not to seek or accept instructions in regard to the performance of their duties from any government or from any other authority external to the United Nations. While serving with the United Nations, such personnel will enjoy the legal status of "experts on mission" in accordance with Article VI of the 1946 Convention on the Privileges and Immunities of the United Nations.

The Guidelines on Non-Uniformed Civilian Government-Provided Personnel on Assignment with United Nations Peacekeeping and Special Political Missions, dated 1 April 2015, reference 2015.01, shall be applicable to government-provided justice personnel. The Secretariat recalls that it is the government's responsibility to make copies of this document available to government-provided justice personnel prior to their deployment.

The Secretariat further recalls that any government-provided personnel may be repatriated in line with the aforementioned guidelines. In the case of repatriation due to disciplinary grounds, for failing to meet or dishonesty in regards to meeting minimum requirements for service in the Mission, misrepresentations, for personal reasons upon request of the individual, or upon request of the contributing Member State, the contributing Member State will be responsible for all travel-related expenses.

The Justice and Corrections Service of the Office of Rule of Law and Security Institutions, Department of Peace Operations, is the designated focal point for all issues related to the selection, recruitment, deployment, rotation, transfer and repatriation of government-provided justice personnel.

The Secretariat of the United Nations avails itself of this opportunity to renew to the Permanent Missions of Member States to the United Nations the assurances of its highest consideration.

Security Council resolution 2567 (2021) paragraphs 3.a.vii and viii mandated UNMISS to provide technical assistance and advice to restore and reform the rule of law and justice sector and coordinate with the police and relevant government institutions on international humanitarian law, investigation and prosecution of sexual and gender-based violence (SGBV), conflict-related sexual violence (CRSV) and other human rights violations and abuses, in order to strengthen the protection of civilians, combat impunity and promote accountability. UNMISS supports national accountability mechanisms through different streams. UNMISS Rule of Law Advisory Section (RoLAS) supports national authorities to restore the presence of justice actors in priority locations and strengthen linkages along the justice chain to increase accountability for human rights violations and abuses, including SGBV and CRSV. Support to address CRSV is provided under the wider framework of the 2014 Joint Communiqué of the Republic of South Sudan and the United Nations on Addressing CRSV.

Duties and responsibilities:

The Expert will be located either at the Mission headquarters, with frequent visits to the field, or in one of the UNMISS field offices. The Expert will report to the Director of UNMISS RoLAS or his/her delegate. The expert may be co-located (full or part-time) with other UNMISS components and/or national justice counterparts.
